Project Summary

- Add an exemption from Phase II vapor recovery system requirements for E85 refueling
- Ensure these rules can accommodate ARB's adopted cost reduction measures
- Removal of redundant and expired language and clarifications to existing rules language

Draft Amendments Under Consideration

E85 Refueling

- Under EPA's guidance, ARB encourages local air districts to revise their rules to exempt E85 refueling
- Flexible Fuel Vehicles (FFVs) that use E85 fuel are also equipped with ORVR
- ORVR performs the same function as Phase II vapor recovery system

Draft Amendments Under Consideration

ARB's Cost Reduction Measures

- Current rules require all performance tests according to ARB's Executive Orders
- ARB's cost reduction measures regarding testing will be implemented by our rules

Draft Amendments Under Consideration

Aviation Fuel Bulk Loading

- Current Rule 4621 requires ARB's bulk plant certification for aviation fuel bulk loading operations
- ARB does not certify aviation fuel bulk loading operations
- Rule 4621 will be amended to not require ARB certification for these operations

Incorporate ARB's Executive Order Requirements for ISD Alarms and Liquid Condensate Traps

- Provisions will be added to Rule 4622 regarding ISD alarms for operator response, contractor response, and alarm history records
- Provisions will be added to Rule 4622 regarding liquid condensate traps
